

The National Valve Museum

Updates April 2017

With two more articles on Stereophony a new section in the articles contents has been added – Subject Themes.

A small article on Stereo has links to all stereo articles.

A linking article relates to the cathode-ray tube

Added 20 adverts:-

- adv1296 – Pinnacle Brand
- adv1297 – Pinnacle Brand
- adv1298 – Pinnacle Brand
- adv1299 – Pinnacle Brand
- adv1300 – Pinnacle Brand
- adv1301 – English Electric CRT's
- adv1302 – English Electric Vapour Cooled Magnetrons
- adv1303 – English Electric New CRT Gun
- adv1304 – English Electric Image Isocon
- adv1305 – English Electric Vidicons

- adv1306 – English Electric Marine Magnetrons
- adv1307 – English Electric Thyratrons
- adv1308 – English Electric Vidicons
- adv1309 – English Electric TWTs
- adv1310 – English Electric Mercury Vapour Thyratrons
- adv1311 – English Electric Voltage Stabilisers
- adv1312 – English Electric Vidicons
- adv1313 – English Electric Storage Tubes
- adv1314 – English Electric Long Life Ignitrons
- adv1315 – English Electric Long Life Image Orthicons

Added five time-line features

- time-129 – Ultrasonic Devices – an iconoscope type pick-up tube. 1959.
- time-130 – Making and Selling Valves – a 1959 editorial
- time-131 – Large Screen Colour TV – Eidophor system from 1960
- time-132 – Studio 5 – a vast TV studio – 1960
- time-133 – Report on the IEE Convention on Stereophony - 1959

Added two articles

- art-215 – P P Eckersley's take on Hi-Fi – appears in the timeline section for 1960.
- art-216 – Cathode Ray - The Great Stereophony Fake - appears in the timeline section for 1959.

Added one recollection

- vox-014 – The Evolution of the Cathode-Ray Tube. 1960.